left untreated, there is a risk of significant bladder blockage leading to high residual urine which in turn can lead to repeated urinary infection and formation of bladder stone